SUMMER

READING

Read the text below and answer the questions according to the text.

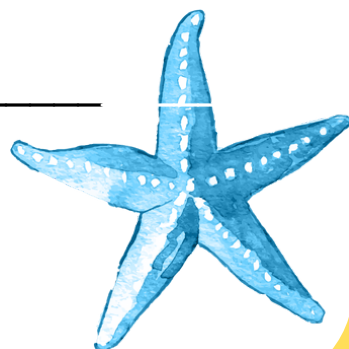

Summer is an amazing season! The weather is warm, and the days are wonderfully long. Many kids enjoy a break from school, giving them more time to play outdoors. They can spend time at the beach, make sandcastles, and soak up the sunshine. Some families take trips to new destinations or visit relatives during the summer holidays. People often cool off with ice cream, have picnics in the park, or gather for barbecues with friends and family. Swimming in pools, lakes, or the ocean is a favorite summer activity, along with playing sports like soccer, baseball, and tennis. Many children also attend summer camps, where they can meet new friends, explore nature, and try exciting activities like hiking or canoeing. Summer is perfect for relaxing, having fun, and making wonderful memories with loved ones!

1- What do many children do during their summer break from school?

2- Where can people go to swim during the summer?

3- What are some activities families enjoy doing together in the summer?

4- What kinds of sports are popular to play during summer?

WINTER

READING COMPREHENSION

Read the text and answer the questions.

Winter is a magical season when the world turns into a snowy wonderland. As winter begins, temperatures drop, and people bundle up in warm coats, scarves, and gloves. Snow gently falls from the sky, blanketing everything in sparkling white. This season is filled with fun activities. Children enjoy playing outside, building snowmen, creating snow angels, and having playful snowball fights. Families often spend time together sledding, skiing, or ice skating. After being out in the cold, there's nothing better than coming inside to warm up with a cozy blanket and a steaming cup of hot chocolate. Animals adapt to winter in different ways. Bears hibernate for weeks, sleeping through the cold, while deer grow thicker coats to keep warm. Some birds, like robins and geese, migrate south to find warmer climates. Although winter can be frosty, it's also a time of excitement, joy, and wonder.

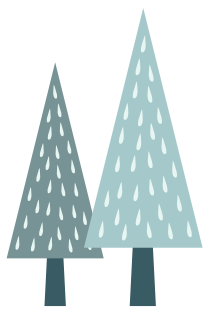

1- What do people wear in winter to stay warm?

2- What can children build outside when it snows?

3- What drink is nice to have after playing in the cold?

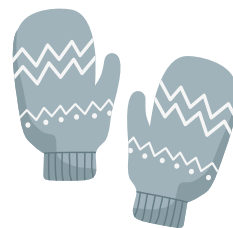

4- Which animals sleep through the winter?

5- Where do some birds go when it gets cold?

Winter

Reading Comprehension

Read the paragraph and answer the questions.

Winter had arrived, blanketing the town with snow and turning the trees into frosty sculptures. Every morning, Drew bundled up in his warmest coat, scarf, and boots before heading to school. The cold air stung his cheeks, but he didn't mind. He loved how the world looked after a fresh snowfall. It was sparkling and quiet as if the earth was taking a peaceful nap. During recess, Drew and his friends built snow forts and competed to see who could make the biggest snowball. In the evenings, Drew's family gathered around the fireplace, sipping hot cocoa and reading stories aloud. For Drew, winter wasn't just a season of cold. It was a time for fun, family, and finding warmth in small, special moments.

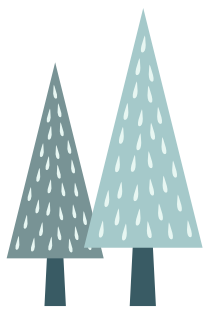

What does winter make the trees look like in Drew's town?

How does Drew prepare for the cold each morning?

What does Drew enjoy doing with his friends during recess?

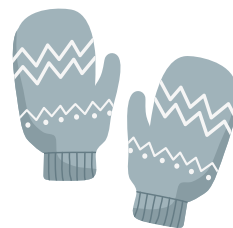

What activity does Drew's family enjoy together in the evenings?

How does Drew feel about winter, and what parts of the season does he appreciate the most?

Winter

Reading Comprehension

Read the paragraph and answer the questions.

Winter had arrived, covering the town in a thick layer of snow and transforming the trees into glittering frosty sculptures. Each morning, Drew dressed in his coziest coat, a snug scarf, and sturdy boots before setting off for school. The icy air nipped at his cheeks, but he didn't mind at all. He loved how magical everything looked after a fresh snowfall—sparkling and still, as if the world was quietly resting. During recess, Drew and his friends had a blast building snow forts and seeing who could roll the biggest snowball. In the evenings, Drew's family would gather by the fireplace, enjoying cups of hot cocoa and sharing stories. For Drew, winter wasn't just about the cold—it was a season filled with fun, togetherness, and finding joy in the little moments of warmth.

What did Drew wear to stay warm on his way to school?

How did the world look after a fresh snowfall, according to Drew?

What games did Drew and his friends play during recess?

What did Drew's family do together in the evenings?

Why did Drew enjoy winter so much?
